Creating Connections through Arts Based Service-Learning

Holly Feen-Calligan, Education, Associate Professor of Art Therapy; Siobhan Gregory, Art and Art History, Senior Lecturer; Wendy Matthews, Music, Assistant Professor; Marilyn Zimmerwoman, Art and Art History, Associate Professor

Wednesday, February 14, 2018 12:30PM-1:30PM Rm. 2339 F/A Bldg

At a time when “we are all hooked up but not connected” the creative connections potentiated by the 2016-17 Humanities Center funding of this working group in Art Based Service-Learning will be highlighted.

We will feature service-learning with pre-professional music education and art therapy; recent projects of ArtsCorpsDetroit; and SEE ME SEE YOU collaborative performance modeling leadership first introduced for the Humanities Conference Civility/Incivility.

Holly Feen-Calligan is an Associate Professor with the Art Therapy Program of the College of Education, with a courtesy appointment in the Art and Art History Department. She also stewards ArtCorpsDetroit.

Siobhan Gregory is a Senior Lecturer in the Art and Art History Department of the College of Fine, Performing and Communication Arts, an industrial designer and applied anthropologist. Her research focuses on the progress of human-centered design practices.

Wendy Matthews is an Assistant Professor of Music Education in the College of Fine, Performing and Communication Arts. A trumpet player, she remains in high demand as a guest conductor. Her teaching emphasizes instrumental music education.

Marilyn Zimmerwoman is an Associate Professor in the Art and Art History Department of the College of Fine, Performing and Communication Arts. Her photography, performance, curating and teaching serve towards constellating communities and collaborative agency of inclusive imaginative social change.
